Project Gorongosa - Mozambique / Ongoing Project

2014-04-30

Gorongosa is a district in the province of Sofala, Mozambique. In order to tackle the very high level of illiteracy, specially among women, the program is aimed at creating model classes for women where the focus of the program is the girl and the community leader. After their training, the participants in these model classes will be able to educate and train other members of their communities, be it for literacy as well as other arts and crafts that can help local sustainability.

AMU participates in this project by creating 20 of the open spaces aimed at hosting the "Centros de Alfabetização de adultos - escolas 'sem paredes'" for adult education. Additionally, AMU also will create a workshop - "Oficina de Sapiência modelo" to host the training in various arts and crafts.
